The GCC Cybersecurity Challenges Conference and Exhibition, which has been held over the past six years and hosted by the State of Kuwait since 2018, has achieved remarkable success. It has received wide attendance and strong praise from both local and international participants. This success is attributed to the importance of the topics addressed by the conference, in addition to the participation of a distinguished group of international experts and speakers, as well as a number of global companies that took part in the accompanying exhibition and showcased a range of solutions and technologies in the fields of information and communication technology and cybersecurity. These factors have further strengthened the success of the conference, which attracts more than 700 participants from over 20 countries annually.

The Seventh GCC Cybersecurity Challenges Conference and Exhibition in the State of Kuwait discusses the latest digital security technologies as part of the activities of its fifth edition, with the participation of a number of high-level international speakers and the attendance of cybersecurity experts from countries around the world. The conference aims to exchange expertise and specialized knowledge in the field of cybersecurity, while promoting all aspects of international and Gulf cooperation in combating cyber vulnerabilities and threats. It also seeks to raise awareness among private-sector and government institutions on how to protect their systems and data from breaches. In addition, the conference aims to explore the latest developments in cyberattacks and how organizations can develop their capabilities and capacities to protect their systems and themselves, while enhancing the use of technology and artificial intelligence to reduce digital risks.

Digital transformation has become the main pillar around which all business contexts and future achievements revolve. Technology is now the cornerstone of operations within various institutions and governments, which has made it essential to work diligently on establishing secure frameworks to protect business privacy and maintain confidentiality. This need has become increasingly urgent due to the spread of various cybercrimes that pose real threats to the world of finance and business. Reports indicate the scale of the risks now facing all sectors. From this perspective, the idea of holding this conference emerged, with the aim of examining the extent of these threats and identifying ways to confront them.
